- Police Chief Chris Cammock
 - Police reform legislation update
 - 100 bills passed that affect policing
 - A packet explaining top legislative issues was distributed and Chief Cammock briefed the committee of the changes and effects of those issues.
 - Public expectation for police related to police service call response will change with new mandates.
 - Additional costs are anticipated for equipment and programs to meet the legislative intent.
 - Hiring/personnel update
 - One rehire started earlier today
 - One recruit will be graduating academy in July
 - Two candidates are in the background phase of hiring
 - There has been an uptick in weapon offenses in the city/county
 - Three weapons offense investigations in the city
 - Investigators are coordinating efforts with other agencies, making good progress.
 - Three Gang Resource Officer positions have been restored. This is one part of the Department's strategy for addressing gang subculture issues in the community.
 - Outreach services
 - Recently met with Skagit County Public Health to discuss experiences with service gaps when providing homeless outreach. They responded committing $200,000 per year for 2 years to provide contracted mental health services for outreach coordinators to refer which in this form wasn't currently available.
 - An internal workgroup has been established to look ahead at how Outreach Services needs to grow or change to maintain its effectiveness. Details regarding their research and recommendations will be brought to a future meeting.
 - Service model will include services for substance abuse, mental health, and basic treatment
 - Updated the committee that work is continuing regarding the Command Vehicle project however responding to legislative changes and internal promotions, transfers and transitions have taken away time from this project.
